

"Revere, I adore your new bakeware."

"It's like an extension of my Revere cookware that I got 34 years ago as wedding gifts. Imagine, bakeware made of the same heavy stainless steel. You can bet it's going to look this pretty for years and years to come. And I think stainless steel is why it bakes so well. First thing I did was bake a cake. Turned out beautifully even. No highs and lows. And the pans clean up so easy I can't believe it. Even from my meat loaf. Just washes clean with no soaking. But the cookie sheets are my favorites. Beautiful enough to serve on."

Like all the new Revere bakeware, this cookie sheet is crafted from shiny 18/8 stainless steel—strong enough and handsome enough to use as a serving tray.

Stainless steel baking gives you even layers that stack without surgery. Pans clean with ease, resist warping and pitting, carry Revere's famous 25-year limited warranty.
